The Purple and White Club recognizes the annual giving efforts of Young Harris College faculty and staff.

The number of faculty and staff who make annual contributions to YHC is critical to the success of the College’s fundraising efforts. External donors and foundations who are considering making a gift often ask about the percentage and total number of faculty and staff who give back to the institution.

A high percentage of internal support indicates to outside donors that the members of the College community are supportive of what the institution is doing, what it stands for, and where it is headed and consider themselves a part of its growth and success.

Each department that achieves 100 percent giving is listed in donor reports, including the annual President’s Giving Report, and will be announced at the spring Board of Trustees meeting.

Gifts may be made to the College’s Annual Fund, the Capital Campaign, a scholarship or an established fund, such as Friends of the Arts. The College’s fiscal year runs July 1 to June 30; gifts made on or before June 30 will be credited to the current fiscal year.

“I give back to YHC because I see this institution as an extension of my own family, and I hope others will do the same. It’s so important that potential donors understand that YHC is truly one big family. The College does a great job of informing prospective students of this and we make it a reality when our students arrive on campus. The family atmosphere doesn’t just stop with our students—it extends through the faculty, staff, administration and alumni.”

The Purple and White Club is a way for us all to contribute to the parts of YHC we love best based on our personal interests, professional and academic affiliations, or the ties we have with our students. For some of us, there is specific aspect of life here at YHC that is near and dear, and for others it’s a myriad. Big or small, one or many, we can all agree that something here captures our hearts. We can support whatever we love, admire or enjoy here with our gift to the College.
